the college on the Heights, anxious to train voices for the future calls of their country, have joined in the general disturbance.

Until now Chief Ahearn has been content to sit in his tepee and scornfully ignore Hines's assault. To-day he sends forth his spokesmen to travel the dis-trict and brand as false the charges against his reign as leader. DEMOCRATS OF THE DISTRICT

SATISFIED, SAYS AHEARN. "Democrats here are contented," said Ahearn to-day. "This storm comes from a man who was the first I helped when I became leader. I made him Alderman. He ran again and was defeated. Then he descried and opened headquarters at the Monongahela Club. Some of the younger element who know nothing of organization or regularity are blindly following him. The people leading this attack are these whom I have aided. "I had hopes after our immense plurality for Gov. Dix of rooting out factionalism and having a harmonious Democracy here. I have worked zealously, in season and out, and there has been no selfishness about it, for I have never sought an office for myself nor placed my interests first. The rightful voters know this and will vote accordingly." Besides leaving political scars which never heal, these fights cost a leader from $5,000 to $15,000.

Last year Ahearn retained his leadership by beating Hines by 154 votes. More than 2,000 votes were cast. Hines applied for a recount. Justice McCall Manny Van der Noot, Frank Carstar-phen, Commissioner John F. Galvin and Justice David L. Well so skilfully stated the situation for Ahearn that Justice-McCall said the appeal was "silly and idle." The Appellate Division said the same thing.

Ahearn is one of Tammany's bost known leaders. He won a chieftain's feathers while Mayor McClellan and C. F. Murphy were righting. He has lived in his district eighteen years and has been in the building business twen-ty-five years. He has one surviving of even children, a boy, Harold, who at-

SOME NOTED NAMES ON AHEARN'S COMMITTEE LIST.

Among the members of his general committee are United States Senator O'Gorman, ex-Judge Herman Josephs, ex-Corporation Counsel William B. Ellison, George W. Loft, who seems "doomed" to go to Congress; ex-Judge Samson Lochman, ex-Sheriff "Billy" Greil and Senator Henry W. Pollock, the first Democratic Senator the Ninethe first Democratic Senator the Nineteenth elected in ages. His district club, the Minnetonkah, lives in a fine four-story wigwam at No. 57 West One Hundred and Nineteenth street. Here nightly the leading men of the organization meet to send out base of "literature," arrange the polling lists and report the work of the enemy. To the stranger in the district who fears for the chief they extend an invitation to attend the outing of the Ahearns at the Manhattan Casine next Thursday night to "see for yourself how Jimmy stands here."

Not the least interested in Ahearn's fight is his partner, "Hooligan" Hallahan, who will join the Ahearn orators to night and tell the multitude why "Jimmy" Ahearn ought to stay leader for life. "Hooligan" is a humorist, the lines people say.

Ahearn has friends, plenty of them, and influential and enthusiastic, too, who daily extend encouragement and counsel. Tammany men like Assembly Leader A E. Smith and Aaron Levy, author of the Levy Election bill, have spoken at Ahearn's railies and other and bigger political guns will be at his command before next Tuesday.

So that the stanch old ship Minnetonkah is not dangerously imperified, the Ahearn crew asserts, unless the cannon from Fort Monongahela sputters exploteenth elected in ages, His district club,
